WHY CHOOSE AREA STUDIES?

Through its inclusive and diverse program of study, the Area Studies major offers a pathway to intercultural competence, preparing students for work in variety of fields and for informed global citizenship. As they become specialists in a chosen world area—Latin America, Asia, or Europe—students obtain proficiency in a world language and learn about cultural, social, political, and historical contexts. Interdisciplinary coursework teaches students to synthesize and analyze information using different approaches, and study abroad or an internship provides marketable, real-world experience.

Area Studies majors graduate with a holistic understanding of their area of study, the ability to communicate in a world language, and multi-disciplinary research experience. They have practiced solving real-world problems, in teams and independently. And they have achieved the intellectual agility they will need to adapt to the demands of tomorrow's job market.

AREA STUDIES QUICK FACTS

Yukine

I have always been really interested in Asia and find History to be a really fascinating topic. I have met so many really friendly and open professors in Area Studies that have helped me find a way forward in life.

“A liberal arts education fosters valuable ‘soft skills’ like problem-solving, critical thinking and adaptability. Such skills are hard to quantify, and they don’t create clean pathways to high-paying first jobs. But they have long-run value in a wide variety of careers.” - New York Times
